

The Resurrection Morn

The hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves... shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation. Jn. 5:28-29

Not too fast

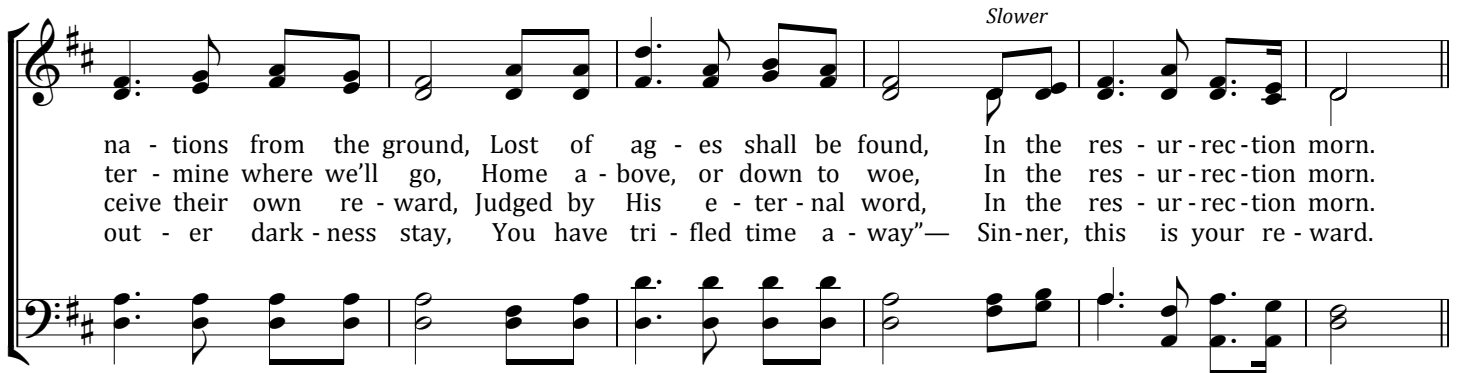

1. In the res - ur - rec - tion morn - ing, When the Sav - ior comes, 'tis said, Robed in all His white a -
2. In the res - ur - rec - tion morn - ing, Time will end for - ev - er here, And the rec - ords we are
3. In the res - ur - rec - tion morn - ing, All the dead of ag - es past, Both the right - eous and the
4. Then He'll say un - to the right - eous: "Come, ye bless - ed, live for aye, In the bright - est realms of

Faster

dorn - ing, He will raise the si - lent dead; With the might - y trum - pet sound, Wake the mak - ing, At the judg - ment shall ap - pear; All our mor - tal life be - low, Must de - wick - ed, Each shall hear the trum - pet blast; They shall stand be - fore the Lord, And re - glo - ry, Where there shines one last - ing day"; Turn - ing to the lost He'll say: "There in na - tions from the ground, Lost of ag - es shall be found, In the res - ur - rec - tion morn.

Slower

ter - mine where we'll go, Home a - bove, or down to woe, In the res - ur - rec - tion morn.
ceive their own re - ward, Judged by His e - ter - nal word, In the res - ur - rec - tion morn.
out - er dark - ness stay, You have tri - fled time a - way"— Sin - ner, this is your re - ward.

Refrain

In the res - ur - rec - tion morn - ing We shall hear the trum - pet sound;

Christ will come in white a - dorn - ing, With ma - jes - tic glo - ry crowned.