

To Be Lost in the Night

Cast ye the unprofitable servant into outer darkness: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth. Mt. 25:30

Knowing therefore the terror of the Lord, we persuade men. 2 Cor. 5:11; Acts 26:28-29

1. Oh, come to the Sav - ior, thou poor, wea-ry soul, 'Tis Je - sus in - vites thee to come;
2. His great, lov-ing heart beats in pit - y for thee, He anx - ious - ly waits for thee now;
3. Your time now is pass - ing, e - ter - ni-ty's near, The sun now hangs low o'er thy way;
Refrain—To be lost in the night, in e - ter - ni-ty's night, To sink in de - spair and in woe;

D.C. Refrain

By the pow'r of His blood would He now make thee whole, And fit thee to dwell in His home.
Oh, turn not a - way, but His bleed-ing hands see, They'll smooth the dark clouds from thy brow.
Oh, turn to Him now, the glad gos - pel word hear, Oh, has - ten while yet there is day.
But such is thy doom, if thou turn from the light, Re - fus - ing His mer - cy to know.

WORDS: A. F. Ferris, *pub.*1897. MUSIC: "Santa Cruz"; Ella B. Bishop, *pub.*1897. Public Domain.